
Phase timings are instrumented and separate from the production throughput chart. Mixed verification/tail shapes contribute to each average.